

WYNNE MILLER

Wynne Miller, in her work as executive and leadership coach, has been a learning partner and guide for hundreds of men and women, impacting their lives and the lives of those they lead, report to, and live with. She was among the first to be credentialed as a Master Certified Coach by the International Coach Federation (ICF), and is now serving as an ICF assessor, credentialing individual coaches and accrediting training institutions. She is also an experienced coaching supervisor and mentor.

As a Mindful Leadership Managing Partner, Wynne partners with the executive coaches and leadership consultants on the Mindful Leadership Team to manage, supervise, and co-consult on client engagements and projects. She leverages her master coach experience to ensure Mindful Leadership delivers the highest impact and value-add coaching in support of our client-leaders.

A pioneer in the field, Wynne's focus is on the cutting edge of leadership and career management issues. She's been called compassionate and tough minded by clients who welcome her candor, quick mind, incisiveness, humor, and "deceptively simple recipe of wit, wisdom, and love." Drawing on more than thirty years as an entrepreneur, educator, trainer, manager, and coach, Wynne uses a wide range of styles and a vast toolkit to produce her results. Clients report clarity, confidence, insight, direction, courage, and an ability to choose from more options in their actions and reactions. She has the gift of being present to her clients, providing a safe climate for stretching them out of their comfort zones to uncover the power of their own leadership signature, learning how to enhance their effectiveness while staying true to themselves.

Career highlights: recruited as the sole American on an international team of coaches for a leadership effort at KLM Airlines and Swisscargo; the first director of human development for ColorAge, a Massachusetts software company; guest facilitator for the Authentic Leadership segment of Wharton's Advanced Management Program; consultant/coach for a variety of organizations, including AMD, Osram Sylvania, MetLife, Philips, VMware, The Broad Institute, Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, and TED Fellows (Technology, Education, Design: Ideas Worth Spreading).

A graduate of Brandeis University in Psychology (studying with Abraham Maslow himself), Wynne has continued her studies with Boston College School of Management. She is a dedicated lifelong learner and has certification in the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator, and training in NLP (Neuro-linguistic Programming), family systems theory applied to business, psychosynthesis, as well as holistic studies. Her training as a coach includes: Corporate Coach University International, The Coaches Training Institute, The Newfield Network, The Strozzi Institute for somatic coaching, and The Gestalt Institute.

REPRESENTATIVE ASSIGNMENTS:

VP, Sales, global manufacturer, medical devices: Coaching toward goals of inspirational leadership and high-impact strategic thinking. Development of project management skills for stretch assignment, and support for risk in leading company-wide transition to new sales channel.

VP, Transshipment, Canadian marine transportation company: Coaching for enhanced executive ability and responsibility, leading to additional VP function: New Business Development. Strengthening communication skills and development of approaches, direct and nuanced, for leading global team, remotely and locally.

VP, Emerging Accounts, information services, providing innovative strategies and business development using Big Data: Coaching for leadership development, emotional intelligence, presence and presentation skills, leading to substantial increase in revenue production, and advancement in project management and scope of delivery.